Ed Kelley pitched good ball for the losers, but his support wabbled more than once. Two of the scores made against him were directly due to misplays on the part of his teammates. Downey was effective, while discrete the score again yesterday, the followed the match between Max R. The three contests the Soldiers have won from that club, though, have no effect on the result of the league championship, as Bureau replaces Commerce in the series today. A new five-game schedule will start this afternoon, with Bureau as the contending team.

Yesterday afternoon a large gallery followed the match between Max R. Marston of Baltimore, who won the Shawnee tournament last Saturday. This was a match well worth seeing on the out-result of the league championship, as Bureau replaces Commerce in the series today. A new five-game schedule will start this afternoon, with Bureau as the contending team.

H. K. Kerr of Greenwich was carried to the home green by C. H. Gardner of The Aggies played more effective ball It was a mighty swat which Johnson sent to the center field fence. It was made on the first ball pitched, and if it had been necessary would have netted a home run.

On his three previous trips to the plate Walker had retired him on strikes. This time, however, Walter set himself and hit the first ball offered, and the game was over.

It was another typical Johnson game, his teammates failing to get more than the first ball of the plate of the plate of the part of his teammates. St. Joseph's took the measure of St. Stephen's in the Holy Name League by 9 to 2. The winners played much better ball, outhitting and outfielding their opponents. Poore was the star batter, making three hits for a perfect average for the day. St. Joseph's got only three safeties off the delivery of Ritenour. Bureau and Commerce in the Govern-ment League have been settled. The following decision handed down by the board of governors of amateur base ball as a result of a meeting of that body last night gives Bureau's plea the Sherwood Magee of the Braves has finally got to going and is now doing his share of hitting for the Boston team. Magee was a long while getting into his stride, and it was thought for a time that Stallings had made a mistake in obtaining him, but he is showing now that the deal was a wise move, for he is the only one of the Braves' outfielders who is doing clean-up hitting.

Stallings, it is understood, is anxious to get another clean-up hitter, and is said to have a deal on whereby he will get a veteran fielder who is still a star hitter. This is said to be Frank Schulte of the Chicago Cubs, one of the hardest hitters in the game, and who probably would show marked improvement if he were transferred to the Braves, a team.

Congress Heights lost to Drillery in the Potomac League by 7 to 9, Johnnie Greer, who has not been playing ball regularly for several years, developed a real "come back" stunt for Congress Heights. He played first base without an error, and his work at the bat was sensational. Out of four trips to the plate Greer hit safely four times, two of his wallops going for three bases, one for two bases, and the other for one.

H. K. Kerr of Greenwich was carried to the home green by C. H. Gardner of Agawam, after being dormie four.
